DIXMUDE

ALLIES ADVANCED

Took Possession of Lombaertzyde, Northwest of
Nieuport—The Advantage
Undoubtedly Lies with the Germans at This Point in Supreme Effort in Belgium

The German war machine has battered its way into the Belgian town of Dixmude. To-day's official French statement contains the admission that the allies were obliged to fall back from this vantage point in the great battle for possession of the eastern shore of the British channel. As an offset, the French war office states that the allies have advanced along the North sea coast, pushing back the Germans and taking possession of Lombaertzyde, a small Belgian town a few miles northeast of Nieuport.

The capture of Dixmude was the first indication of the new attack by Germans, described as a supreme effort and probably marking the turning point of the war, had brought definite results. Between Dixmude and Ypres, which lies close to the French border, the fighting has been the most intense since the Germans elected at the opening of the week to begin a new onslaught with the help of fresh troops and artillery.

The Berlin view of the situation is optimistic. The latest official reports using the words, "good advances," for the first time. Paris also is hopeful of the outcome in Belgium.

Few details of the fighting in the east are permitted to reach the outside world. It is said, however, that the Russians are employing new tactics, placing their main reliance on their huge bodies of infantry, rather than on their cavalry. There were further indications to-day that the Turks were offering determined resistance to the Russian advance. An official Turkish statement laid claim to considerable success. Heavy fighting continues on Serbian soil. Japan is celebrating the fall of Tsingtau.

They have occupied the Sheikhut fort at El-Arish, Egypt, and taken four field guns from the enemy. The Russians in Caucasus were forced to retire to the second line of the defense.

EXECUTED AS SPY
IN LONDON TOWER

Carl Hans Lody Found Guilty After Court Martial—He Had Lived in United States—But Admitted He Was a German.

London, Nov. 11.—It is officially announced that Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Inglis, who was found guilty by a court-martial of espionage November 2, has been shot as a spy.

Lody when arrested claimed to be an American, but later confessed that he was a German. He lived in New York and Omaha. In the latter city he married the daughter of Gottlieb Stern, a brewer, who later divorced him.

Lody met his death in the tower of London after having been found guilty by a court-martial on charges of having communicated with the enemy. The statement concerning the execution is brief, saying:

"Sentence was duly confirmed." It is understood that Lody died game, refusing to the last to reveal the name of the superior officer from whom he received his instructions to spy on the British navy.

This was the first execution in the tower since 1700. The scene of the execution was the tower barracks, not far from the spot where Anne Boleyn and other persons famous in English history were put to death.

Lody was about 28 years of age.

Carl Hans Lody, the first man to be shot as a spy in generations in England, once was employed as a guide by a touring agent in New York and also worked in Omaha. He was arrested late in September in London charged with espionage and at his trial testified that he was a former lieutenant in the German navy, but that he had been transferred to the reserves.

In his capacity as a reserve officer, Lody said, he was ordered to proceed to England to keep track of the movements of the British fleet, but was warned not to travel as an American citizen and "in consequence of that I received an American passport." He claimed membership in several New York societies. Last year Lody served on board Emperor William's racing yacht Meteor.

The prosecution in summing up said Lody had admitted being an alien enemy posing as a civilian—at times as an American—meanwhile communicating important information to Germany. He described the prisoner as one "upon whom the international law against spies should be imposed."

Counsel for the defense admitted that Lody was a German lieutenant and said he had taken the risks because he thought it was his highest duty to do so. He asked for a sentence less than that of death, but said if the full penalty were exacted Lody would face it like a man.

FRENCH AND BRITISH
EACH STOPPED ATTACK

French Official Statement Says Fighting
Between Newport and River Lys
Resumed With Great Severity.

Paris, Nov. 11, 2:50 p. m.—A French official statement this forenoon said that fighting was resumed yesterday morning with great severity between Nieuport and the river Lys. The French forces were successful in maintaining their front. British troops were also attacked at several points, but were unsuccessful in stopping the enemy.

BLAME GERMAN SPY.

For Fire on Steamer That Destroyed
Nearly 800 Horses for Allies.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 11.—Virtually all of the 800 horses on board the British steamship Rembrandt were burned to death when the ship took fire off the Virginia Capes Monday, according to investigation reaching here last night. The Rembrandt was bound from Baltimore to St. Nazaire, France, and the animals are understood to have been intended for the armies of the allies.

It was reported here last night that Captain Edlin of the Rembrandt had notified officials of the Lamport and Holt line, owners of the ship, that he had reason to believe the vessel was fired by German spies who were members of the crew. The captain is said to have claimed that threats against the ship were made before she steamed from Baltimore Saturday. No confirmation of these reports was available.

Last night Rembrandt was 10 miles off Cape Henry, disposing of the carcasses of the horses. She will proceed to Newport News for repairs. Forward compartments of the ship are reported badly damaged.

When the fire was discovered the ship was 200 miles off the capes. The smoke was so dense that the crew could not reach the flames and the stampeded animals were left to their fate. The ship's hold was flooded and the hatches closed, smothering out the fire.

"WAR PARLIAMENT"
BEGINS ITS SESSION

It Is Likely That Little But Preparing the Sineas of War Will Be Done
by the Britishers.

London, Nov. 11:11 a. m.—The king opened to-day what probably will prove to be a war session of Parliament. No controversial political question will be deliberated but this does not mean that entire harmony will prevail, for the cabinet ministers will be asked some pertinent and uncomfortable questions about the conduct of the war. The labor party leaders are especially primed with questions regarding pay for soldiers, allowances for their dependants and pensions; but criticism of the government by the opposition probably will be restrained.

The most immediate business before the House of Commons will be to provide the sinews of war in men and money. The recruiting situation may lead to some steps toward compulsory service, and the £500,000,000 granted in August having been practically spent further credit of a like amount probably will be postponed until the special war act passes at the last session.

The usual ceremony accompanied the opening of Parliament.

TO LEAVE MEXICO
TO ITS FACTIONS

United States Troops Probably Will Be Withdrawn Very Soon in View of Carranza's Promise.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—American troops probably will be ordered out of Vera Cruz very soon, leaving the Mexican factions to settle their own differences, as the result of recent developments which have brought guarantees which the Washington government demanded. Carranza's promise not to resume the customs dues collected by American officials during the occupation of the city and to protect the natives who have served Brigadier General Funston proved to be as good as sufficient.

Similar pledges from Guiterrez, the new provisional president, are expected.

Vosburg Near Pine Plains

GUILTY CONSCIENCE
OPPRESSED HIM

John Wood Named Three Men Concerned in the Crime with Him

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Professing himself no longer able to bear the load of guilt which oppressed him, John Wood told the officials of the county to-day that he and three others, whom he named, were the murderers of George Vosburg and wife, who were slain in their home near Pine Plains during the Christmas holidays of 1912. Wood is a farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Vosburg were killed with an axe and then their house was set on fire. It is known that they had $800 in their house at the time of the tragedy.

CHEATED ELECTRIC CHAIR.

Condemned to Die, Angelo Cercello Swallowed Match Solution.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 11.—After having his life saved by physicians when he attempted to commit suicide in his cell Monday, Angelo Cercello was sentenced to be electrocuted last night for wife murder, died yesterday at the state prison. In his attempt at suicide Cercello had swallowed a solution of match heads and water and according to the county physician, this was the direct cause of the condemned man's death, although he also suffered from tuberculosis and a diseased heart.

Cercello had been permitted to smoke in the death house where he had been confined for nearly a year and Head Keeper Madden believes that the prisoner had in this way saved enough matches to make the poisonous solution.

The crime for which Cercello was convicted was a brutal one. He chopped his wife's body with an axe and placed it in some brush weeds outside of Newark.

POISONED HERSELF
BEFORE HER PUPILS

Miss Marion Judd, Aged 17, Teacher at
District School in Town of Georgia,
Died from Paris Green.

Georgia, Nov. 11.—Miss Marion Judd, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford L. Judd, died at 3 o'clock this morning from the effects of Paris green which she took soon after opening her school yesterday morning in the district where she taught. Mr. Judd accompanied his daughter to the schoolhouse that morning and assisted her in starting the fire, after which he returned home.

Miss Judd opened the school as usual and soon afterwards took the poison from a package which she had on her desk. Then she went to a spring outside of the building, scattering the poison as she ran.

School Director Upton happened along about that time and he found the teacher in great agony and the children crying. Mr. Upton carried Miss Judd to the house of her uncle, Charles Hurbut, which is nearby, and Dr. W. H. Wright of Georgia and Dr. W. J. Upton of St. Albans were summoned. Later the girl was taken to her home, where she died early this morning.

Miss Judd was a recent graduate of Bellows Free academy at Fairfax and during the summer had worked at Highgate. The only reason advanced for her suicide was that she had been overworked, causing despondency. She was the third of a family of five children.

WORRIED OVER WARSHIPS.

The North Carolina and the Tennessee
Not Heard from Since Nov. 2.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Secretary Daniels yesterday ordered the division of operations of the navy to be quickly set into communication as quickly as possible with the cruisers North Carolina and Tennessee to learn if one of them had met with a mishap, as had been rumored during the day.

The secretary and other navy officials said they did not feel the slightest apprehension for the safety of either vessel, but thought it advisable to allay any alarm by getting definite advice.

Rumors were in the air throughout the day that the North Carolina had been blown up by a mine at Beirut, but so far as could be discovered all reports originated within the United States.

Officials pointed out that while cable communication with Turkey is slow, they were in touch with Constantinople and Beirut, from which points any accidents would have been promptly reported. Similarly, British ships near Turkey would have reported to the British admiralty.

The navy department had heard directly from the North Carolina and the Tennessee on Nov. 2. The former was at Beirut, Syria, and the latter was at Mytilene, off the coast of Greece.

On Nov. 7 and 9 inquiries were sent by cable by the department to the two vessels to learn the basis of reports that one of the American cruisers had landed mines, but no answer came.

A LEADING BUSINESS MAN.

Marvin O. Stoddard Died in Rutland
Yesterday Afternoon.

Rutland, Nov. 11.—Marvin O. Stoddard, a longtime resident of this city and formerly one of its leading business men, died at the Rutland hotel yesterday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock after a short illness of a heart affection, superinduced by bronchial attack. He voted on November 3 and became very ill that night.

Mr. Stoddard was the founder of the business now known as the Rutland Manufacturing company, one of the leading industries of Rutland, having in 1872 formed a partnership at Poultney, known as Mosley & Stoddard. The evolution of this industry is part of the city's industrial history. The firm manufactures dairy and creamery apparatus and also builders' supplies. The business was sold in 1904 to the Creamery Package company of Chicago.

Mr. Stoddard was born at Whitehall, N. Y., March 22, 1849, and was married September 3, 1863, to Candace Hotchkiss of Hampton, N. Y., who died in 1896. He married May 10, 1904, Alva Etta D. Mason Hogle of this city, who survives him. He also leaves a daughter, Mrs. George T. Chaffee of this city, and two sons, J. M. Stoddard of Washington, D. C., and Ralph Stoddard of New York.

Mr. Stoddard came to this city in 1889, when he transferred his business here from Poultney and since retained his residence here although he spent his winters at Los Angeles, Cal. SHOT BUCK FROM AUTO.

Mrs. H. D. Gilson Had Novel Experience in Williamstown Gulf.

A deer hunting story somewhat out of the usual line is told in which the successful hunter was Mrs. H. D. Gilson of Quebec and the place was Williamstown gulf, a few miles south of Williamstown village. Mrs. Gilson, with Mr. Gilson and another man, was motoring through the gulf toward Barre, carrying guns in the hope that they might catch sight of a deer along the route. On reaching the gulf they proceeded slowly and were rewarded with the sight of a large buck bounding down one of the steep hillsides directly in front of the automobile.

While the male members of the automobile party were reaching for their guns, Mrs. Gilson fired and proved her good marksmanship by bringing down the buck at the first shot. The animal weighed about 250 pounds. The autoists passed through the city last evening with the carcass of the buck in the back seat of their Cadillac car.

QUARANTINE ISSUED.

Vermont Now Bars Importation of All Cattle.

White River Junction, Nov. 11.—F. L. Davis, state cattle commissioner, yesterday issued a quarantine against the receiving of cattle in Vermont from any other states, to be in effect until such time as he is satisfied that the danger from the mouth and foot disease is over. This action is taken for the safety of Vermont stock owners. New York, Massachusetts and Rhode Island have issued such quarantine. Maine has also done likewise, as well as the Dominion of Canada.

Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Vermont, are to date free from the disease. Commissioner Davis hopes to be able to remove the quarantine within a short time, so that cattle transportation may be resumed. He thought the period might be from two to six weeks.

$2,500,000 Herd in Danger of Catching
Foot and Mouth Disease.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—The spread of the foot and mouth disease among 836 prize dairy cattle, under quarantine at the Chicago union stockyards, assumed such alarming proportions to-day that it was feared the infection could not be prevented from spreading to every animal in the herd. The cattle were valued at $2,500,000.

According to Dr. S. E. Bennett of the federal bureau of animal industry, 40 head cases were discovered among the herd yesterday, and 32 others were already under treatment.

Simple Services Were Held at Houlton,
Me., Yesterday.

Houlton, Me., Nov. 11.—Simple funeral services at the home of George W. Sullivan, her father, were held yesterday for Miss Mildred Sullivan, the girl victim of an alleged murder at Presque Isle two months ago. Mrs. Sullivan, who for weeks has been seriously ill from the effects of the tragedy in her home, was unable to be present.

The services were conducted in the presence of a few friends of the girl by Rev. J. L. Hess, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and her body, enclosed in a pine wood casket, was buried in Evergreen cemetery.

While the services were in progress Miss Kate O. Michaud, the nurse whose confession was responsible for the finding of her body in the lonely grave in the Presque Isle woods, arrived by train from Wallagras, in company with Deputy Sheriff Martin Lawrie, and was taken to the county jail.

Miss Michaud was not arrested as an accessory, but was surrendered by the Henderson, who, on Oct. 19, furnished her bail for appearance before the grand jury as a principal with Dr. Lionel E. Dudley, charged with performing an illegal operation.

She will be the state's principal witness in the prosecution of the charge of murder brought against Dr. Dudley, and the accessory charges on which Alice and Dorley Pollette are under arrest. She refused to make any statement.

DEPUTY MORRISON GETS A BUCK.

As Does Walter Driscoll on Herring Farm in Moretown.

Huntsman on the old 'Bijah' Herring place in Moretown took two deer as toll for their morning's efforts to-day. One of the fortunate hunters is Deputy Sheriff A. M. Morrison of Barre, who owns the Herring place and who went to the farm to-day deer hunting was far from his mind than a trip to New Zealand. It was while he was standing in the door of his barn that a buck stole silently out of the woods and began browsing on some frozen apples in the orchard. The deputy recently suffered the amputation of one leg, but he reasons that a man with three peculiar supports could not have bettered the time he made in reaching for a gun. One shot sufficed to bring his quarry low. The deer is to be exhibited in one of the local markets.

The Graniteville hunter planned to start for Moretown with Dr. E. H. Bailey at daybreak. The doctor was unable to go, so Mr. Driscoll set out for the Herring place alone. He had been in the woods but a few hours when he sighted a fine buck. He wasted but a single shot in killing the animal. Before the deer was dressed it tipped the beam at 200 pounds. An abundance of deer apples on the Herring farm is ascribed as a reason for the prevalence of so many deer in that neighborhood. Before the season opened three bucks and several does were seen there within a week.

ACCUSED OF BIG LARCENY.

Richard J. Hartman, New York Man, Alleged to Have Duped Woman.

New York, Nov. 11.—Charged specifically with the larceny of $133,000 Richard J. Hartman, former president of the ticket brokerage firm of Lyson and company, was arrested last night on the eve of his departure for Europe and lodged in the Tombs. Three indictments against him were handed down yesterday by the grand jury based on the complaint of Mrs. Charlotte R. Mackenzie, widow of a former official of the Singer Sewing Machine company. These indictments accuse Hartman of the larceny of $25,000, $80,000 and $48,000, respectively.

Mrs. Mackenzie, who was left $440,000 in stocks and bonds in 1907 by her husband's will, is said to be almost penniless. Her story is that she met Hartman in London and that he obtained her signature to papers which she did not understand, but which gave him full power of attorney over her possessions.

She alleges that he sold her stock and invested the money received from the sales in his own enterprises which failed.

STATE SECURES
A JUDGMENT

In Suit Against American Express Co.
and National Express Co. to Collect
Tax and Penalty.

The suit of the state of Vermont through its tax commissioner, Charles A. Plumley, against the American Express Co. and the National Express Co. to recover the amount of the annual license tax, together with the penalty for non-payment, in March, was heard in Montpelier city court this morning. The amount of the tax was $25 and the penalty was the same amount. Specifications were set forth by Commissioner Plumley and the case of the two defendants was conducted by Attorney Edward E. Moore of Ludlow, representing the firm of Stickney, Sargent & Skeels.

After the hearing Judge Harvey issued a pro forma judgment in favor of the state of Vermont, and the defendant companies gave notice that they would file an appeal to county court within a day or two.

Frank Clayton, a printer of Hanover, N. H., who has been about Montpelier for a week, was arraigned in court for intoxication, having been arrested last evening. He pleaded guilty and went to county jail for 20 days. Tibaldo Gabeloni appeared in court and asked for the right to change a former plea of not guilty of intoxication to a plea of guilty. Permission was given, and the respondent was fined $5, with costs of $9.07.

OPPOSES VERDICT.

Charles L. Dolan Brings Case to Vermont
Supreme Court.

The case of Anna J. Stacy of St. Albans against Charles L. Dolan and trustee, of Burlington, a breach of promise suit in which the plaintiff was awarded a verdict in Franklin county court last spring was taken up in the Vermont supreme court yesterday, which recovered after a recess taken Friday.

The case was appealed to the supreme court on exceptions by the defendant, it being argued that the lower court erred in excluding evidence, in mitigation of damages.

The plaintiff claimed that the defendant made an offer of marriage in 1909, but that no date was set and it was after December 15, 1913, that the defendant told the plaintiff that he had changed his mind and the plaintiff then caused a writ to be made and served.

W. R. McPeeters of Enosburg Falls and Rufus E. Brown of Burlington represent the plaintiff and Warren Austin of St. Albans the defendant.

TO GIVE RIGHT
FOR A CORNICE

Aldermen Ready to Sign a Document for Benefit of New Hotel

TO PERMIT OVERHANG
ON LIBRARY LAND

October Vital Statistics for Barre Considered
Good

A quit claim deed for approximately 18 inches of cornice overhanging on the westerly side of the new hotel was authorized by the board of aldermen at its regular meeting last night. E. W. Bissell, one of the incorporators, appeared for the Barre Hotel Co., Inc., and a tentative deed drawn up by the clerk was read and referred to the city attorney for approval before its execution. The granting of the deed is another indication of the spirit of co-operation manifested by the city fathers in boosting the hotel project.

Action on the part of the city in signing the papers was thought necessary in view of the fact that the library land was deeded to the Aldrich trustees merely for library purposes and to revert to the city in case the land should be for any other purpose. The proposed quit claim deed does not transfer any land but merely the right to have the hotel cornice project slightly over the library land.

By virtue of the instrument, the incorporators are enabled to add greatly to the architectural effect of the building. The structure is nearing a point where the cornice must be put on, if it be built at all. The aldermen action taken last night will in no wise affect the appearance of the Aldrich public library grounds adjoining the
